OGLE CO. LAD TRIED TO DIE MONDAY NIGHT

Paul Remmers, 21, Admits He Faked His First Account

Paul Remmers, 21 year old Ogle County boy, who is in the Rochelle Hospital in a very critical condition due to a gun shot wound near his heart which he first told police was the result of an encounter with two hold-up men, Monday night, this morning admitted to Deputy Sheriff George Banning of Ogle County, a reporter from the Dixon Evening Telegraph that his story of a hold-up was a myth and that he had shot himself. He said he tried to commit suicide because his folks at home had "bawled him out."

It is believed that there was further motive behind the boy's desperate act, but his condition is so serious that it was not deemed wise to push the inquiry further at this time.

The boy's condition is complicated with pneumonia and a high fever, but hospital attendants said this morning that there is a good chance for him to live.

Narrowly Missed Heart

The bullet, which, according to x-ray pictures shown the interviewers this morning, appears to be about 32 calibre, entered his left side near the heart, missed that organ by only a fraction of an inch, and lies imbedded in muscle near the spine.

The lad told the deputy and the reporter this morning that they would find his gun back of the cushion of his bed. Sitting in his bed, he held the pistol in his right hand and pressed his heart, and pulled the trigger, just because he was "discouraged."

Paul, whose father lives in Rochelle, has always made his home with his grandfather, Dick Remmers, three miles north and one mile west of Kings. He has been keeping company with Miss Mary Tervel, but insisted this morning there had been no trouble between them. He said his car, a Ford coupe, was not all paid for yet, and he may have been worried about finances. He works out by the day, and said he always went to his grandfather's home over Sunday and that they always "bawled him out" there and criticized him until he became discouraged.

Decided on Suicide

On Monday evening about 5:30 he left the home of his girl's sister, Mrs. John Smith, north of Rochelle, to go to a place near Holcomb where he expected to get work. It took him several hours, much longer than necessary to reach a point near Holcomb, and then, driven desperate by his state of mind, he decided to kill himself. Sitting in his car, he opened his overcoat and jacket and pressed the muzzle of his gun to his shirt, over his heart, he fired. His aim was very nearly fatal, and it is believed that he became unconscious, for he stayed in his car all that night and early in the morning drove the machine about a mile to the home of a cousin, where medical assistance was summoned and he was taken to the Lincoln Hospital in Rochelle.

When asked for his story first the boy said two men, jumping out of a car, had stopped him, shoved his car off the road into the mud, and then shot him, stealing about $15 from him. The boy said he was overpowered and showed no bullet holes and that the bullet hole in his shirt was ringed with such marked powder burns as to indicate that the muzzle of the gun had been held close against his body. He said he was not sure as to whether his story was true, and the investigation followed.

Peoria Favored Today

by Illinois Senators

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Springfield, Ill., March 12.—Peoria can vote on a bond issue for new coliseum April 7 if the Governor signs a house bill passed in the Senate this morning, reducing the population requirements for such a vote. The bill is an emergency measure and had it not been passed today it would have been difficult to get it through in time for the election. No roll calls were expected in the Senate today, as the senators were off of the floor when the bill came up and only the strategy of Senator Dally in rushing the bill to the committee rooms for absent members marshalled sufficient votes. No votes were recorded in favor of it. The bill amends the law by reducing the population requirement for a vote on coliseum bonds from 100,000 to 75,000.

County Gets Proposals on

Two Power Patrol Graders

The county road and bridge committee is in session at the court house today completing their plans for the opening of the 1925 road patrol system throughout the county. Contracts for the two power patrol graders will be let this afternoon and these units will be put in readiness to start work at the opening of the season. The committee is completing the hiring of patrolmen for the various sections.

TREASURY TO GIVE COUZENS DAY OF GRACE

Notice of Assessment of Back Taxes to be Made Friday

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Washington, March 12.—The treasury has prepared for delivery to Senator Couzens of Michigan tomorrow, a notice of an arbitrary assessment of profits alleged to have been made by him in the sale of his minority holdings of stock in the Ford Motor Co. in 1919.

While the computation of the assessment is practically complete, it is the intention of the treasury to withhold it for one day to give the Michigan senator, who is chairman of the special committee investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau, an opportunity to sign a waiver of the statute of limitations if he so desires.

Sensor Couzens declared in the Senate an attempt was being made to "discipline" him for his activities in investigating affairs of the revenue bureau.

Secretary Mellon said the treasury is precluded by law from making public the amount of the arbitrary levy, adding that there had been no intention to give publicity to the case.

February Weather was Almost Record-Breaker

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Springfield, March 12.—February was almost a record breaker in the matter of mild temperature, according to Clarence J. Root, meteorologist at the government weather bureau here. Taking the state as a whole, three Februaries have been warmer than the month just passed, but the 12 local stations in the state the month was the warmest on record and over the state as a whole the temperature was above normal, sometimes as high as 20 degrees, on all but seven days of the month. The coldest during the month was light, according to Mr. Root's summary, and most of the snow that fell disappeared almost immediately.

"Winter wheat was in good condition generally," the report continued, "but in parts of the south third of the state dry weather weakened germination. Considerable plowing was done in the southern division. The temperature was above normal on all but seven days. It was more than 20 degrees above from the fifth to the eighth and on the twenty-first and twenty-second. It was 16 and 17 degrees below on the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh respectively. High station readings ranged up to seventy-four degrees above zero and low readings ranged down to eight degrees below."

Blind Stenographer of State Hospital Grateful

Mr. Carroll Democrat—it will be remembered that a few days ago we published a letter received by Mrs. John Squires from Grace Reynolds, a blind stenographer, in the State hospital at Dixon, who had heard Mrs. Squires broadcast from Davenport. Mrs. Squires answered the letter in her happy way, and this morning received another charming letter from the blind girl, who took Sunday to answer it telling her much about herself, and the blind. From the letter of the letter Miss Reynolds is a lady of more than usual intelligence, although blind.

OGLE SUPERVISORS START WARFARE ON HI-WAY SIGNBOARDS

Prohibit Them on Roads of County; Ask Owners to Help 'Em

In its campaign to make the roads of Ogle county as serviceable and attractive as possible, the Board of Supervisors of that county recently passed the following resolution:

Whereas, the placing of advertising signs and bill boards on and along the public highways is becoming so common as to hinder the view of and from the highway in many places to cause confusion in the reading of guide boards, to endanger the public travel, and to cause the sides of the highways to become unsightly, and

Resolved, that this Board direct and it is hereby directed that no person, firm or corporation be allowed to erect or maintain signs, bill boards or any advertising of any kind or description, except legal notices and farmer's sale bills, about or upon any Federal Aid Road, State Aid Road or proposed State Aid Road in Ogle County, and that the County Superintendent of Highways be directed, and he is hereby directed, to enforce this resolution and be it further

Resolved, that the County Board publicly request and the County Board does hereby publicly request landowners of property along the adjacent to such above mentioned highways not to rent, lease or give their property to be used for locating or maintaining such signs, bill boards or other means of advertising.

Development of Palestine Going on at Rapid Rate

By Associated Press Leased Wire—London, March 12.—Sir Alfred Mond, who has just returned from a tour of the Holy Land says developments there since 1921 have been so rapid that it is difficult to convey a picture of it.

Sir Alfred, himself a Jew, enthruses especially over the rapid growth of the town of Tel Aviv, near Jaffa, which he describes as an astonishing and romantic example of Hebrew enterprise. The site in 1909 was a stretch of barren seashore and which now is covered by a city of 25,000 people.

There are 138 factories which derive power from electricity and oil.

The settlement was started by Jews from Jaffa and its rapid growth has attracted enterprising Hebrews from other countries.

Haifa is another prosperous center where a great harbor is being built.

The agricultural development of Palestine is keeping pace with the industrial, according to Sir Alfred, largely owing to the enterprise of Jewish immigrants from Rumania and Bulgaria.

Sir Alfred asserts that the hostility of the Arabs to the Jewish development has been much exaggerated.

Former Dixon Woman to Give Readings, March 22

It will delight her friends of the "Old College" days in Dixon, that Mrs. Allen will have an opportunity to meet her Mabel Friday Allen, and hear her read.

Mrs. Allen will be remembered as the talented and much loved instructor in the oratory department of the college. She is engaged in college work in Los Angeles now, but having been called to the East, has the opportunity while returning through Dixon to stop off for a day or two with friends here.

To give all her old friends the opportunity to see and hear her again, arrangements have been made for her to give a reading while here. She has chosen the pre-Lenten study, "Barabbas."

This will be given at the Presbyterian church, this city, on Sunday evening, March 22. Only Miss Friday's old friends are invited, but the general public.

Many Transients Given Lodging in City Prison

Four transients, who had been imbibing in canned heat, were taken in custody by the police in the Illinois Central yards last evening. They were detained at the city jail over night and this morning ordered to leave town. A total of 20 lodgers were accommodated with comfortable sleeping quarters at the city jail last night. The number applying for lodging has been growing instead of diminishing with the approach of spring and from reports from surrounding towns, Dixon is caring for a small number. Sterling police provided sleeping quarters for 26 applicants housed 57 transients.

JOHN H. BYERS.

When John H. Byers of this city goes to Washington next December as private secretary to Congressman William R. Johnson of Freeport, announcement of this appointment to which position was announced in Wednesday evening's Telegraph, he will not find his duties or his surroundings new for he served many years in a similar capacity for ex-Congressman John C. McKenzie.

FILIBUSTER IN SENATE TO KILL ISLE PINES PACT

Night Sessions to Pass Treaty Threat of Republicans

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Washington, March 12.—Senate Democrats, meeting today to dopt a policy to be followed in the special session, agreed to press for an early vote on the Isle of Pines treaty and to insist on making the world court question a special order early in the next congress.

The special session has run into a filibuster, against ratification of the Isle of Pines treaty.

Republican leaders indicated they were ready to carry their fight for disposal of the treaty by which the United States would formally recognize Cuban sovereignty over the Isle of Pines to the point of forcing night sessions if necessary.

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, served notice of his intention to carry a discussion after failing yesterday to obtain unanimous consent that a vote on the convention be put over until the next congress assembly next December.

Senator Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania in charge of the treaty declared that the pact would be continuously before the senate until a vote was had.

Charles Franklin Died Yesterday in Montana

Charles Franklin, former well known Dixon resident, passed away at his home at Butte, Mont., yesterday morning at 8:30, according to word received by relatives here late Wednesday. The deceased had been critically ill for several days suffering from stomach affliction. The remains are to be brought to Dixon for burial and the complete obituary and funeral announcement will be published later.

W. F. Preston and Dan McIntyre Summoned by Creator

Walter Frank Preston, deputy county clerk, passed away at 11:30 this morning at his home, 1122 Seventh Street, death resulting from an attack of pleural pneumonia. Mr. Preston was taken ill one week ago yesterday afternoon as he was serving as clerk of the county board of supervisors sessions, and was compelled to be taken to his home. He had been suffering with a severe cold for several days and his condition grew rapidly worse until death ended his sufferings today.

Mr. Preston, who was 63 years of age, for many years was secretary to U. S. Senator Shelby M. Cullom, and had been a deputy in the office of the county clerk for a period of ten years. The complete obituary together with the funeral announcement will be published later.

DANIEL MCINTYRE

Daniel McIntyre, a resident of Dixon, for forty-two years, died at 10 o'clock this morning at his home, 1022 Highland avenue. He was ill about two years with a complication of diseases. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow and four children. The children are: Patrick, Daniel, Mrs. Mary Lillian of Brookings, S. D., and Edward. All but Mrs. Lillian reside in Dixon. Three children, Mary, wife of Dr. E. P. Cook, of Mendota; Ruth, wife of Maurice Hurd, and Charles, who died in infancy, preceded their father in death.

Mr. McIntyre was born at Letrim, Ireland, coming to America when a young man. Forty-two years ago he married Miss Kathryn Koehler, coming to Dixon soon after their marriage.

For many years Mr. McIntyre was an employee of the Chicago & North Western Railroad Company. He was a good neighbor, a kind father and a devoted husband and his many friends mourn his passing. He was a devout member of St. Patrick's church of this city.

The hour for the funeral services will be announced tomorrow. His daughter, Mrs. Lillian, is expected to arrive in Dixon Saturday night.

McKENZIE MAY BE HEAD COMMISSION ON MUSCLE SHOALS

President Considers Important Post

Washington—President Coolidge has discussed with Representatives Mackinac and Almon of Alabama, the appointment of a special commission to consider the problem of operating the Muscle Shoals enterprise.

DR. SUN YAT SEN, NOTED LEADER IN CHINA, DIED TODAY

Was First President of Chinese Republic

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Peking, March 12.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, upon whose head the Manchurian dynasty fixed a price of $200,000 when Dr. Sun was campaigning for a republic in China, died here this morning from cancer of the liver. He was 63 years old.

Few if any statesmen, past or present, have known more ups and downs, more victories and defeats, more loyalty or more treachery than Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the first provisional president of China, frequently called "The Father of the Republic" and often referred to as the "George Washington of the East."

The name of Dr. Sun first began to appear in newspapers of the Western World back in the late 80's, when his vigorous pronouncements against his arch-enemies, the dynastic Manchus, attracted attention. He was then living in the Hawaiian Islands with his widow, whom he had married in 1895, however, when he essayed the first of his many revolutions, his life became almost as well known to the Occident as it is to the half of whom he spent a lifetime of unrelenting hardships and constant danger.

Dr. Sun was twice named to the highest constitutional office in China, the first time in the fall of 1911, when he was proclaimed the first provisional president of the Chinese Republic, and again in May, 1921, when he was elected President of all China.

He established the Chinese people, rising in their wrath against centuries of bad government under the monarchical Manchus and previous dynasties, overthrew the existing government and set up a republic, naming as president Dr. Sun, who was understood to have engineered the uprising. All of South China and most of the Yangtze provinces were thus brought under a single banner emblazoned with the principles of republicanism.

The strongest man in North China at that time was Yuan Shih-kai, Governor of Chihli Province. Determined that the country should be united under one leader, Dr. Sun, after establishing what might be termed an experimental government in the South, resigned in favor of Yuan Shih-kai. This marked the beginning of the end for Dr. Sun's infant republic.

Dr. Sun's infant republic was concerned, however, with the overthrow of the old government and the establishment of a new republic. He was strong enough to guide the ship of state, he likewise had personal ambitions centered in a new dynasty.

Having tasted constitutional freedom, Dr. Sun, after establishing what might be termed an experimental government in the South, resigned in favor of Yuan Shih-kai. This marked the beginning of the end for Dr. Sun's infant republic.

HOME OF HEAD OF MCCLINTOCK JURY IS BOMBED

Mysterious Attack on Residence Yesterday is Made Known

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Chicago, March 12.—Laurent E. Clody, foreman of the coroner's jury investigating the death of William M. McClintock, "millionaire orphan" it became known today, was the object yesterday of a bomb attack, which tore out the front of his florist shop. He was at his home at the time.

The explosion came, he said, after a man had called at the shop and a telephone call had been received at his home making inquiries regarding his connection with the store and the jury.

During the inquest which recently was continued for twenty days, Clody resented a statement by an attorney for William Shepherd, foster father and chief heir to McClintock, that the jury must think the presiding deputy coroner was prejudiced in favor of Judge Harry Olsen, instigator of the investigation.

SUBMITS HIS NAME A THIRD TIME FOR JOB

TIME FOR JOB

Chance to Get Confirmation is Seen After Conference Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Washington, March 12.—President Coolidge again re-submitted the nomination of Charles H. Warren of Michigan for Attorney General to the Senate this noon, after the Michigan nod had made his decision to try the third time for confirmation.

The decision of the chief executive to re-submit astonished most of the senators, including the ranking republican leader, who had expected no sooner had news of the decision reached the capitol than enemies of the Warren appointment began preparations to reopen a battle they thought already won, out the Senate and give republican senate leaders another opportunity to try for confirmation.

Senator Butler of Massachusetts, close personal friend of the President, was present at the White House conference and said he believed the necessary votes for confirmation could be obtained.

The republican leaders previously had advised Mr. Coolidge that the situation appeared hopeless but with Mr. Warren's arrival there was a stiffening of republican lines and a result in a decision that confirmation would be possible by a narrow margin.

Meanwhile the opposition, which included almost the whole democratic membership of the senate and a group of republican insurgents, also set out to reorganize its strength to again block Senate approval. It was indicated that the President's decision might result in lengthening the special session which leaders had hoped to end Saturday.

Upon its resubmission the Warren nomination had to travel its regular course through the judiciary committee. There will be many opportunities to interpose delays should the opposition decide that sort of strategy. But is there for the night a resting place?
A roof for when the slow dark hours begin.
May not the darkness hide it from my face?
You cannot miss that inn.

Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?
Those who have gone before.
Then must I knock, or call when just in sight?
They will not keep you standing at that door.

Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak?
Of labor you shall find me sum.
Will there be beds for me and all who seek?
Yea, beds for all who come.

—Christina Rossetti.

SPECIAL DISHES FOR LENT—

BY SISTER MARY.

Egg Recipes.

Eggs lend themselves to almost any course in a meal. Stuffed with piquant delicacies they make a tempting hors d'oeuvre, combined with cheese they furnish a worth-while main dish, as a garnish or in jelly do much for a salad and in custards and creams they provide nourishing desserts.

When a custard is served for dessert keep in mind that if the serving be large it is really the "main dish" of the meal and plan the rest of the dinner or luncheon accordingly.

Eggs Baked With Macaroni.

Six hard cooked eggs, 1 cup macaroni, 1/2 cup grated cheese, 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, few drops onion juice, 1/2 cup buttered crumbs.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water for twenty minutes. Drain and blanch. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. When boiling add salt, pepper and onion and remove from the fire. Stir in cheese and add macaroni and eggs cut in slices. Turn into a buttered baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake until crumbs are brown.

Egg Souffle.

Six eggs, 3 tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, 2 cups thin cream, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Cream butter and beat in flour. When perfectly blended slowly stir in cream and milk heated to the scalding point. Cook over hot water for five minutes. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored and add to sauce. Remove from the fire and add salt and pepper. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry and fold into first mixture. Turn into a well buttered baking dish and bake surrounded by hot water until firm to the touch. Do not let the water boil while the souffle is baking. It will take about thirty-five minutes. Serve as soon as done or it will fall.

Cheese Souffle.

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon mustard, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup grated cheese, 4 eggs.

Melt butter, add flour and stir until thoroughly blended. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Mix salt, mustard, pepper and grated cheese. When the sauce reaches the boiling point add the grated cheese. Remove from the fire and add yolk of eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Let mixture stand until cool. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry. Fold into first mixture. When well mixed turn into a buttered baking dish and bake twenty-five minutes in a slow oven. Serve immediately.

Jellied Egg Salad.

Four hard cooked eggs, 1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, few grains pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, lettuce, mayonnaise.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and lemon juice, salt and pepper and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chop eggs or cut in fancy shapes if a "dressy" salad is desired. When jelly is beginning to set add eggs and olives. Turn into small individual molds and let stand until firm and chilled. Turn out and serve on a bed of lettuce with mayonnaise.

Egg and Beet Salad.

Hard cooked eggs and pickled beets combine well in a salad. Cut the white of egg in the shape of daisy petals and cut the beets in crescents. Use the yolk of egg as the center and arrange the white daisy fashion around it. Sprinkle the crescents of beet over the salad and serve on a bed of lettuce with mayonnaise.

Woman's Missionary Society Meeting

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Grace Evangelical church met on Tuesday afternoon at the church. The meeting was opened with song by all. The Scripture reading was read by Miss Rachel Lieve and followed by the three of the members leading in prayer. After the singing of an anthem the leaflet entitled, "The Wicked Winged Lu," Miss Rilla Webster took charge of the topic and gave some interesting items on work in China. Miss Vivian Graves sang a beautiful solo entitled, "The Garden of Prayer," which was much appreciated by all. Miss Virginia Van Bibber gave a recitation and Lois Brandteller sang a solo, which were also enjoyed by all. Interesting reports were given during the business session showing the progress being made in the various branches of the work. The meeting was closed with the repeating John 3:16. The hostesses, Mrs. J. D. Van Bibber, Mrs. J. Lelvan and Miss Anna Johnson had charge of the program and also served dainty refreshments to over fifty members and friends.

Missionary Circle Met Monday Evening

The Young People's Missionary Circle of the Grace Evangelical church held its March meeting at the church on Monday evening. At 6:30 a waffle supper was served to thirty-seven members and friends. The program was in charge of the field secretary, Mrs. F. Brandteller. After the singing of a selection Mrs. O. E. Strook, W. M. S. president, led in prayer.

After the singing of another song Miss Irene Miller read the leaflet entitled, "The Wicked Winged Lu." The following special numbers were given: Violin solo by Richard Lievean.

Vocal duet by Misses Mary and Helen Conrad.

Piano solo by Miss Helen Conrad.

These selections were enjoyed and responded to most heartily by all. The Scripture lesson, Isaiah 60:1-5, 13-22 was read by Rev. F. Brandteller. The topic was taken up by Miss Gladys Newman, who gave some very interesting remarks on missionary work in China. The business session was in charge of Miss Mildred Schrook, vice president. Three new members were received. After the benediction a social time was enjoyed.

Mrs. Frank Rosbrook Happily Surprised

Last evening a company of friends, numbering about thirty, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rosbrook on East Second street and happily surprised Mrs. Rosbrook. She has just had her kitchen all remodeled and painted, and the bright and shining room gave the inspiration to a few friends who planned the surprise, for they and other friends held a "kitchen shower" for the hostess, presenting to her many new pans and dishes with appropriate verse causing much fun.

A tempting picnic supper was a feature of the happy evening which was so thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET SATURDAY

The Dixon Woman's Club will hold its next regular meeting Saturday afternoon, March 14th, at the Christian church. The program will be in charge of the Home Economics department and is to be a lecture with lantern slides on Period Furniture.

The hostesses will be Mesdames Suter, Petersberger, Morris, Stauffer, Edwards, McGinnis and Sinclair.

MYSTIC WORKERS TO MEET FRIDAY

The Mystic Workers lodge will meet Friday evening in Union hall.

Pleased With Recital at Sterling

From the Sterling Gazette of Wednesday evening:

Miss Rilla Webster, Dixon's popular reader, appeared in a recital before a large audience Tuesday evening at the Trinity Evangelical church. The entertainment was put on under the auspices of the Plus Ultra class of women and the young ladies' Sunday school class. Many who heard Miss Webster when she appeared at the Trinity church several months ago were so delighted with her personal charm and ability as a reader that they came back to hear her a second time.

Miss Webster is a graduate of the Dixon School of Oratory, which she attended several years ago, and is a reader of unusual talent. The Sunday school classes felt fortunate in securing her for a recital, as she is in great demand. The reader is a very clever impersonator and delighted her audience with several impersonations in negro and child dialect. She has a strong dramatic ability which she displayed in several poems and cuts from dramatic books. Her humorous numbers were enjoyed several times, and Miss Webster very graciously favored her audience with encore selections. Three of her selections that were especially good were "Jerry, the Bobbin Boy," "The Judgment" and "The Telephone Call."

The young ladies' class assisted with the entertainment by favoring with several musical numbers. They sang a group of class songs, and a trio, composed of Miss Mildred Wesner, Miss Gladys Buckingham and Mrs. Lawrence Buckingham, favored with singing, accompanied with ukuleles. Miss Ruth Holtz, an accomplished pianist, furnished a piano number, which was also very much enjoyed.

A collection was taken after the recital which amounted to $24. A part of this sum was paid to Miss Webster and the remainder will be used for local church work. The two classes are hoping to secure the reader for another entertainment sometime in the future.

ETHEL BARRYMORE IS VERY ILL—BULLETIN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Kansas City, Mo., March 12.—Slight improvement was noted today in the condition of Ethel Barrymore, actress, confined to her hotel here suffering from an attack of arthritis. It was announced by William Frank, her manager.

Miss Barrymore is not yet in condition to make the trip to New York, her manager said. Plans that she would start for New York today, were given up when her condition was reported worse last night. Mr. Frank said the trip would be made as soon as there was sufficient improvement in Miss Barrymore's condition.

By Associated Press Leased Wire—Kansas City, Mo., March 12.—The condition of Ethel Barrymore, actress, stricken with arthritis Monday, was reported to be worse last night.

A second physician was called into conference at her hotel suite. Arrangements had been made to return to New York today, but it was said she probably would be unable to undertake the trip.

Handkerchief Points

Fashion is fickle, no doubt, but she does remain true to handkerchief points on dancing frocks. Undoubtedly, they make the most flattering hemline there is, which is excuse enough for her constancy. Crystal beads and silver embroidery also embellish this lovely Nile green creation and give it a moonlight effect.

C. E. S. Gave Nice Program Sunday Eve

A very interesting program was presented by the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the United Evangelical church last Sunday evening. The first part of the program was composed chiefly of musical numbers.

An instrumental duet by Gordon and Richard McNeil was greatly appreciated. The Scripture lesson was read by Wayne Bowser. This was followed by a duet by Emma Gott and Richard Weyant.

A reading on the various activities of the Young People's Society was given by Emma Gott. A cornet solo by Richard McMullen was much enjoyed. The second part of the program included a musical pageant under the direction of Mrs. Guy Robinson, which was very favorably received. A brief sermon by the pastor followed. The service was concluded by a solo by Gladys Wolber.

Relief Committee's Excellent Work

The Relief Committee of the Women's Relief Corps held a Thimble party in G. A. R. hall on Tuesday. Twenty enjoyed the basket lunch at noon and several were added to the party in the afternoon, to help with the sewing of carpet bags for the boys in the hospitals. A large gunny sack full of the result. The next meeting of the Relief Committee will be held in two weeks, the place to be announced later.

Miss Della Phillips Was Guest of Honor

On Tuesday evening Mesdames Geo. Pitzer and Miss Edna Bott entertained the primary teachers of St. Paul's Lutheran church at the home of Miss Bott. The house was prettily decorated with daffodils and ferns. The party was given in honor of Miss Della Phillips, who is to become the bride of Fred Holman of this city, in the near future.

Tempting refreshments were served and at the close of the luncheon a beautiful gift in cut glass was presented to Miss Phillips. At a late hour the guests returned to their homes wishing Miss Phillips much joy and happiness, in advance of the happy event.

Smart Jacket of Fur

Here is one of the jackets of fur, tailored as carefully as if it were cloth, that will be very popular for spring. The pockets and sleeves are bound with braid and the collar turns over in a thoroughly businesslike fashion. The fur is leopard, one of the smartest of furs for spring. While not actually a necessity, such a coat is extremely useful in our climate and most attractive in appearance.

ROCKEFELLER'S TUSKEGEE GIFT.

The cause of negro education, to which many thousands of dollars in small sums is given, largely by people in the north, and which was given perhaps its biggest initial impulse in 1881 when Tuskegee institute was founded by the late Booker T. Washington, who induced the state of Alabama to appropriate $2000 a year for its maintenance, has attained great momentum in the last fifteen years. Tuskegee alone of the many important colored schools in the south, has received three one-million dollar gifts in that time, the latest of which has just been announced as coming from John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The first million-dollar gift to this institution was given in 1910 by A. T. Foltger of East Orange, N. J., who left the residue of his estate, something more than a million, to the school. In 1922 Albert M. Post Mitchell gave another million.

Yet the money given to this institute, and to the various other schools for education of colored people in the south, is as nothing compared to the endowments of great universities in the north. It is well that the people of the north are giving much money to this cause, toward which southern people are gradually becoming more liberal. For generations to come, as long as there are millions of colored children growing up in the southland, and the colored people not yet economically able to finance their own education, it will not do for people north or south, to forget or neglect their education. To take part in this fully as patriotic a duty of one section of the country as another. What is the interest of one section or another, one race or another, is in the interest of all sections and all races.

NO SUBTITLES.

On the whole American moving picture films are held to be the best in the world, yet an occasional film from abroad is hailed as better than any single picture yet produced here. Such is the recent German importation, "The Last Laugh." A New York reviewer praises this picture thus:

"Jannings (the chief part) is perfect in character. The minor characters are superb. It is one of the best balanced casts I have ever seen. For direction it is simply unbeatable by anything the American director has yet shown us. Every shot is legitimate. There is nothing futuristic about photography or sets. It is real realism."

The committee of the National Board of Review says: "The Last Laugh" is one of the most important pictures yet to be observed on the screen. Its influence on future picture-making should be provocative."

A notable feature of this highly praised picture is the total absence of subtitles and connecting legends. The burden of the portrayal rests upon the actor and the action. This appeals to the thoughtful critic of movies as correct. Ordinarily subtitles interrupt the picture. The need for them indicates that the pictures can not tell the story adequately alone, as good pictures ought to do. Sometimes subtitles are witty and entertaining in themselves and the audience laughs at them, regardless of the defects of the pictures they describe. Usually they are not witty; many run into maudlin sentimentality and are more annoying than helpful.

Some American directors already realize this fact and have reduced the subtitles to a very small number. A few have done without them wholly. The success of this wordless German film ought to add impetus to the elimination of all unnecessary verbal explanations.

ONLY AN EARTHQUAKE.

One of the stories told about the recent earthquake deserves repetition. In the capital of Canada an audience was gathered in a college auditorium watching an undergraduate show of some sort. When the earth began to rumble and the building to rock, some people bolted for the exits. Everybody stood up, frightened cries were heard and a genuine panic seemed imminent.

The diminutive leading lady, so the story goes, came to the foot-lights and implored the crowd thus: "Sit down, everybody; please sit down; it's only an earthquake."

They sat down. The panic was avoided and the earthquake itself did no harm there. The leading lady is a heroine in real life as well as on the college stage.

On sober second thought, however, "it's only an earthquake" does not seem a thoroughly reassuring statement. But it probably would have made no difference what the lady said. It was her own fine example of courage and poise that saved the day. Her voice, rather than her words, carried conviction and calm and good sense to the crowd.

EATING LIGHT.

Science has found a way, in its researches to find a treatment for rickets, to feed sunlight to the human body in our food.

We cannot be healthy without sunlight, or rather the short, "actinic" or "ultra-violet" rays which are found in sunlight. Science found it could produce these rays with artificial light and for some time has been treating rickety children with artificial sun baths.

But it found, also, that by treating food with these actinic rays, we could feed ourselves sunlight internally.

The best way of preventing or curing rickets is to light up our bodies inside. Now we can do it two ways: either through the skin or from the inside by light-giving foods.

TOM SIMS SAYS:

One of the debutantes tells us she either has to go without enough clothes or go without men.

Two were injured in St. Louis when an auto driver thought a girl looked better than the road.

Be careful in packing away your winter clothes. Moths make the fur fly.

The seven wonders of the world in spring are the seven days of the week.

Just start whistling and first thing you know business will be humming.

One of our greatest needs is rubber windshields.

When a man does take his wife to a show she knows he will brag about it for weeks and weeks.

People who live in spring suits should not open milk bottles with their thumbs.

What makes people who should be happy but are not so happy than those who shouldn't be happy but are?

The straight and narrow path is plenty wide for its traffic.

Nice thing about having enemies is you can blame them for the troubles you bring on yourself.

Even if you are on the right track you will get run over if you just sit there.

A debutante tells us if she let the men know how much she really has it would show she didn't have much.

And there is such a thing as being too sensible to be too sensible.

Sometimes you can learn a lot by turning over a new leaf.

Some parents worry about keeping the kids in clothes and others about keeping the children in autos.

Love is blind. But there is always some friend who thinks he is an eye doctor.

(Copyright, 1925, NEA Service Inc.)

Gutson Borglum and the Stone Mountain Memorial Committee are at odds—doubtless the inevitable clash of the artistic and business temperaments.

They will settle their differences, by such lawsuits or compromises as they please, and in due time they and all who knew them will be dead, and a little later forgotten.

But meantime, under one sponsorship or another, the great monument must be completed. This generation must afford to let it go down to posterity a fragment, commemorating only our incapacity to finish what we began.

For this monument, with the other planned in honor of the Union, will be the most permanent human thing on this planet. It will literally outlast the geologic ages. Further into the future than the Neanderthal man is in the past, through a period longer than the whole evolution of man, from his subhuman ancestors until now, that monument will stand as the last record of the age which glorified war.

Archaeologists of the Thousandth century will describe it as of a period "a little later than the Egyptians." Even longer, if the earth's crust has now reached relative stability, it may outlast Man, and even life itself. Some future gasmasked expedition from Venus ten million years hence, may photograph it as the only surviving documents of the creatures that once inhabited the now frozen and airless planet.

It may have been foolish to undertake a thing so stupendous and indestructible, and so artistically disputable, but, having put our hand to it we dare not turn back.

NOBODY DOUBTS IT BUT—

Senator Borah proves that there ought to be an extra session of Congress. There is work to be done which can not be done now and ought not to wait until next year.

Nobody doubts that. The trouble is that also nobody believes that an extra session of Congress would relieve it.

Congress doubtless does not deserve all of its reputation, but it deserves some of it. And the trouble is not, as we are likely to suppose, chiefly with congressmen. It is Congress. Congressmen are good, bad and indifferent just as they always were and always will be. They could do the work if they were organized for it.

Better men could not do it, without that organization. Until Congress, by reorganization, makes itself an operable institution, nobody will want it in extra sessions even when there is work for it to do.

GET AWAY FROM "MERENESS"

Theodore Roosevelt was of the opinion that the "mere lawyer" was not superior to, but rather the inferior of, the "mere" dentist or "mere" bricklayer as a public official. Doubtless he would have preferred something beyond the "mere" grade of any sort. Certainly the "mere"

"How-dee do!" he yawned. "What's wrong?"

"Now that Jack Frost has been scared away," said the March Hare, "we must get down to business. There is a lot to be done."

"What?" asked Nick curiously.

"Well," said the hare, "I have a cousin called the Easter Bunny who has to be told a thing or two. He never seems to know that spring is here until I tell him. Besides he may need help."

"May we help him?" said Nancy.

"Well, see," said the March Hare, "get on my back, both of you and we'll be off."

So the Twins hopped on and the March Hare went loppity loppity, off to the Easter Bunny's house.

Outside it looked like any other rabbit house, a little door under some tree roots.

But inside! Why inside it was—

"Nobody was inside yet."

The Twins got off and knocked loudly as the March Hare said to do.

Then they heard a loud yawn and a sort of scraping noise and after a long while the door opened and there stood the Easter Bunny in his pajamas and night-cap.

"How-dee do!" he yawned. "What's wrong?"

"Is somebody sick? It can't be more than four o'clock."

"Nobody's sick," said the March Hare a bit sharply. "But about a million little boys and girls are going to be if you don't get busy and get your Easter baskets ready."

"Oh—so that's it, is it," exclaimed the Easter Bunny, opening his eyes up wide and looking around.

"Spring's here, is it, and me not dressed. The very idea! Ha, ha ha! He ho, ho! You made a mistake, cousin. A million little boys and girls are going to be sick, you mean, if I do get busy and—"

And the "mere" publicist, who in his library has studied it all out, is likely to be an invaluable assistant, but a useless leader.

The best thing is to get away from "mereness" of any sort, and that is not easy, in this day of specialism, when we absolutely must act on expert knowledge, and the man who is not a "mere" something in particular is likely to be nothing in general.

It is sometimes a choice between the rank amateurs, who know nothing about anything, and the "mere" specialists, who know everything about something and nothing about anything else.

Only once in a while we find a Roosevelt, who is an intelligent amateur of everything and something more than a "mere" expert in something.

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine. It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of time. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Ringhaston, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.

VICTOR ARTISTS TO BE FEATURED IN FINE CONCERT

Will be on Air From Several Stations
This Evening

A distinctive departure from previous radio concerts will be made by the Victor Talking Machine Co. when it broadcasts the sixth of its program from station WEA, New York this evening. Instead of the usual operatic and concert stars giving classical and semi-classical programs, a brilliant array of stars in the field of lighter music will go "on the air." Henry Burr, Billy Murray, Rudy Wiedoff, saxophonist; the Peerless Quartet, and the International Novelty Orchestra, all of them known for their popular recordings for the Victor catalog, will be the featured artists.

The program, as in the past, will be relayed through a number of other stations to all parts of the United States and Canada. These stations include: WCCO, St. Paul-Minneapolis; WJAR, Providence R. I.; WTIC, Hartford, Conn.; WEEI, Boston; WFI, Philadelphia; WEA, Cleveland; WCAE, Pittsburgh; WOC, Davenport; WGR, Buffalo; WDEH, Worcester, Mass.; WJW, Detroit; WMAQ, Chicago; and WSAI, Cincinnati.

The program will include: "Tina," "That Wicked Tango," "Wonder," and "Cielito Lindo," played by the International Novelty Orchestra, Nathaniel Shilkret, directing; "Oh! Mabel" and "Big Bad Bill," by Billy Murray; "Souvenir" and "Saxophonia" two saxophone solos by Rudy Wiedoff; "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" and "Dear One," by Henry Burr; and "Mama and Papa" and "Follow the Swallow," by Peerless Quartet.

FORMER POLOITE DIED SUDDENLY IN DAKOTA HOME

Jacob W. Cox Lived in Polo and Vicinity
Many Years

Polo—Perle Thompson of Sterling was here on business Friday.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren met Wednesday with Mrs. Maggie Stauffer for all day work.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hayden had friends visiting them from Sterling Friday.

Jacob W. Cox was born February 12, 1862 at Beaver Creek, Washington county, Md. and departed this life very suddenly at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon March 1, at his home in Dakota, aged 72 years and 16 days. When a young man Mr. Cox moved to Illinois near Polo with his parents and lived here ever since until about ten years ago when he moved to Dakota. In February 1880 he was united in marriage to Miss Lydia Miller and to them six children were born. Those left to mourn his sudden passing are his sorrowing wife, two daughters and two sons: Mrs. Edith Jones of Colorado, Mrs. Lizzie Cross of Polo, La. and Guy Cox of Dakota. One daughter, Dolly and one son, Charley preceded him in death. He is also survived by two sisters, one brother, 12 grand children and a host of friends. Funeral services were held Wednesday at Dakota, the remains arriving in Polo Thursday evening and at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, services were conducted from the Methodist church, Rev. Harry C. Brown officiating with interment in Fairmount cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Boone and baby spent the week end here with the former's sister, Mrs. Lee Stevenson and family.

Gar Isham of Chicago was transacting business here Friday.

Mrs. Errett Diehl received word that her sister, Mrs. Alvin Bick of Indianapolis, Ind. had met with an automobile accident in which she sustained three broken ribs. She was in company with her son Robert and another couple of friends. She was taken to a hospital where she was made as comfortable as possible and later was taken to her home where it is hoped by her Polo friends she will speedily recover.

SETS NEW STATE AND FAT YIELDS IN MILK RECORD

Illini Homestead Piebe Bonheur—New holder of state record for milk and butterfat production by junior two year old cows of all breeds.

Urbana, Ill.—Cows in the dairy herd at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, which in the past have broken 24 state and two world records in milk or butterfat production, have just added another record to their long string. Illini Homestead Piebe Bonheur, a pure-bred Holstein bred and developed by the college, has just set a new mark for junior two year old cows of all breeds in the state by producing more than 10 tons of milk and almost 900 pounds of butter in a year. To be exact her record is 20,305.4 pounds of milk and 712.32 pounds of butterfat, which is equivalent to 890.39 pounds of butter. She will be the official state record holder for cows of her age just as soon as the figures on her year's production have been checked by the Holstein breed association.

In making the new record, Illini placed two former record holders. The state record in milk production by a junior two year old was held by a Holstein that produced 20,400.4 pounds of milk in a year, while the record in butterfat production by a cow of this age was held by a Guernsey that made 690.69 pounds in a year.

Good breeding and an almost ideal conformation tell the story of Illini's success as an efficient and profitable milk and butterfat producer, according to M. H. Campbell, a member of the college dairy department. She comes from a line of blooded, high producing ancestors and has plenty of size, high quality and an open conformation, as shown by her clean cut head and neck, the length of her body and the refinement of her bone throughout, he said. She weighed 1,565 pounds when she finished her record.

More Alleged Spurious Bonds Laid to Chicagoan

By Associated Press Local Wire
Chicago, March 11.—The state's attorney's office today was investigating the papers purporting to be a $200,000 issue of bonds of Sangamon County school district, number 186, found in the office of Ben H. White, missing bond broker, sought in connection with the disposal of false Christian County school bonds.

Experiments show excellent paper can be made out of grape vines.

Simple Way To End Night Coughing

No matter how long you have been troubled with exasperating coughing at night, robbing you of valuable sleep and thereby weakening your system and laying you open to dangerous infections, it can usually be stopped at once by a very simple treatment. Most people have found that they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed often the first time they try it.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The result is you usually sleep soundly the very first night, and the entire cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and almost every throat irritation. It contains no opiates or other harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. On sale at all good druggists. Ask for ing to M. H. Campbell, a member of the college dairy department. She comes from a line of blooded, high producing ancestors and has plenty of size, high quality and an open conformation, as shown by her clean cut head and neck, the length of her body and the refinement of her bone throughout, he said. She weighed 1,565 pounds when she finished her record.

The dam of the new record holder is Illini Homestead Bonheur, a Holstein that was bred and developed by the college and that produced 19,544.4 pounds of milk and 945.8 pounds of butter as a four year old. The new record holder's sire is Sir Bess Pieterie Piebe and her grand sire is Em. blagard Tritonia Homestead, that was at the head of the college herd from 1911 to 1919. He was the sire of 10 cows that broke 17 state records for milk or butterfat production.

Contrary to what might be expected, Illini Homestead Piebe Bonheur was cared for and managed in the same way as her stable mates were in test. She was milked four times a day throughout the year's test and received a ration made up of a grain mixture, silage and hay. The grain was mixed with beet pulp and then wet with a mixture of one-third molasses and two-thirds water. During the year she ate 939 pounds of corn, 1,252 pounds of oats, 1,565 pounds of bran, 625 pounds of linseed oil meal, 280 pounds of cotton seed meal, 313 pounds of soybean oil meal, 85 pounds of gluten feed, 313 pounds of gluten meal, 1,932 pounds of beet pulp, 4,915 pounds of beets, 11,305 pounds of corn silage and 4,254 pounds of alfalfa hay.

During the time that she was on test, Illini many times was taken to the stock judging pavilion on the college farm where she was shown to visitors or worked over by students of the college in the judging classes. Keepin' her in a judging class for two hours at a time with about 30 students working over her did not appear to bother her.

Good breeding and an almost ideal conformation tell the story of Illini's success as an efficient and profitable milk and butterfat producer, according to M. H. Campbell, a member of the college dairy department.

A TRUE LOVE STORY

Lois Wild, and (inset) Leslie Sheriff who joined her show to woo her. Loveless Lois Was Cold to Love. She Was Waiting for a Prince Charming. He Arrived When College Boy Fell, Joining Show So He Could Woo Her.

BY GENE COHN
NEA Service Writer

New York—"Loveless Lois" they called her along Broadway.

She drew an Arctic circle about herself, the wisecrackers said, adding that she wore icicles for earrings. Certainly it seemed that the face that launched a thousand courtships, after it had won for its possessor six national beauty contests, would never come to utter the words "I do" in the parson's presence.

The trouble has been, as Lois Wild now puts it, that there have been countless loves, but no romances. And what Lois wanted was a man who could do something more than write a mash note reading: "I saw your picture in the paper. I have $50,000 and a farm in Connecticut. I am lonesome. Will you marry me?"

So when romance of the screen and story book type came quietly strolling along the street of the gay lights, Lois was all but shaken out from under her attractive blonde locks.

The result is the announcement that the lovely Lois will soon wed Leslie Sheriff, son of a wealthy Washington (D. C.) family.

Listen, then, to the love story of Leslie and Lois.

From the day that Lois Wild was able to say "choo choo" it was an even bet that she would be a blonde beauty and a heartbreaker.

When, with her family, she left Los Angeles and headed east no one who knew her was surprised when she won the bathing beauty prize at Brighton in 1921 and followed this with the Atlantic City prize in 1923 and four prizes thereafter. This, of course, attracted Flo Ziegfeld, the magazine editors, and the photographers. For a time she posed for Howard Chandler Christy and finally, signed a contract with the Polias.

There Leslie Sheriff first saw her. Of course he wanted to meet her.

REASONING

LET'S make this a sort of a friendly-like chat that is meant for just mother and dad. Perhaps it's a wasted idea, at that, for this thought may be one that you've had.

However, the wee little folks of today are always worth writing about, and the spirit that moves me directs that I play on this bunch that is bound to come out.

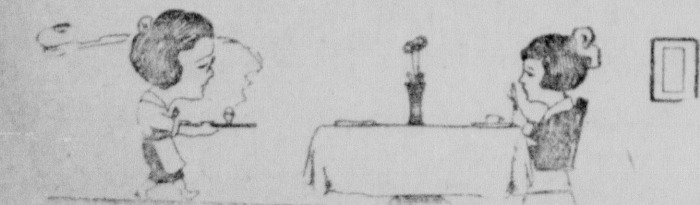

We older folks know what is right and what's wrong, so it's easy for us to go right. That isn't so true of the juvenile throng, so our duty is to turn on the light.

It's human, it seems, for a youngster who errs, and oftentimes refuses to mind, to do all the deviltry things that he dares when the warning he gets isn't kind.

Remember that youngsters are bound to be wild in their thoughts about things they are meeting. A queer-working thing is the mind of a child, and it seldom responds to a beating.

The reasoning habit is best in the end. When you try it, your child goes in gaining. They learn to do right as they learn to depend on the right in parental explaining.

CIGAR MAGIC

During a music hall performance there was a sudden commotion at the back of the stage, and the manager dashed behind.

"Look here," he said, "what the deuce is all this row about?" A scene shifter smiled broadly.

"D'ye know the magician who eats fire?" he said. "Well, he's just put the wrong end of a cigar in his mouth!"—London Tit Bits.

New Proposals Before Legislature

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Springfield—Removal of the Chicago state hospital for the insane from its present location in the northwest corner of the city to a site 30 or 40 miles from the city limits will be asked in a bill to be introduced in the house soon, according to Mrs. Rena Elrod, Chicago, in whose district the hospital is located.

Announcement of the move was made at a meeting of the appropriations committee at which C. M. Turner, Wenona, suggested that the present hospital site could be sold for use of the city to a site 30 or 40 miles from the city limits will be asked in a bill to be introduced in the house soon, according to Mrs. Rena Elrod, Chicago, in whose district the hospital is located.

Part of the institution was destroyed by fire a year ago and it is expected that $500,000 will be asked to rebuild the plant which was burned and provide additional room for inmates. The sum of $1,996,900 has been asked for the maintenance and operation of the hospital and it probably will be granted.

Efforts of women members of the house, aided by some of the masculine members, to obtain an appropriation for the construction and operation of a state farm colony for women are doomed to fail at this session, according to present indications.

Rep. Otto Sonnenman, Carlinville, told members of the appropriation committee that such a step would constitute a big social advance but C. H. Jenkins, director of the state welfare department, contended that there are numerous other things which the state needs more and his advice is expected to prevail.

A plea that the state spend $1,500,000 at once in the completion of the Dixon state hospital was made by John P. Devine of that city at a meeting of the house appropriations committee. At present, feeble-minded children and epileptics are housed at the institution which Devine said is vastly overcrowded. The state budget calls for $600,000 for permanent improvements at the Dixon institution but C. H. Jenkins, state welfare director, admitted that more could be used had it been available.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

The Fly-Front Chesterfield

Years ago, every well-dressed man possessed his Chesterfield top coat, named after Philip Dormer Stanhope, fourth Earl of Chesterfield and author, statesman and dandy of his day.

Indeed, Lord Chesterfield's chief claim to fame rests rather upon the style he invented in overgarments than upon his literary style, polished though it was. That the Chesterfield coat fell into disuse during the last fifteen years or so was due to the introduction and popularization of loose-fitting garments of the Raglan, sporting and knock-about types. Men found these more comfortable to wear with soft hats, soft collars, soft shirts and by gosh shoes. The eclipse of the derby hat also affected the vogue of the Chesterfield overcoat. So, too, did the widespread preference for tan shoes and, indeed, the general tendency toward a free-and-easy mode of dress.

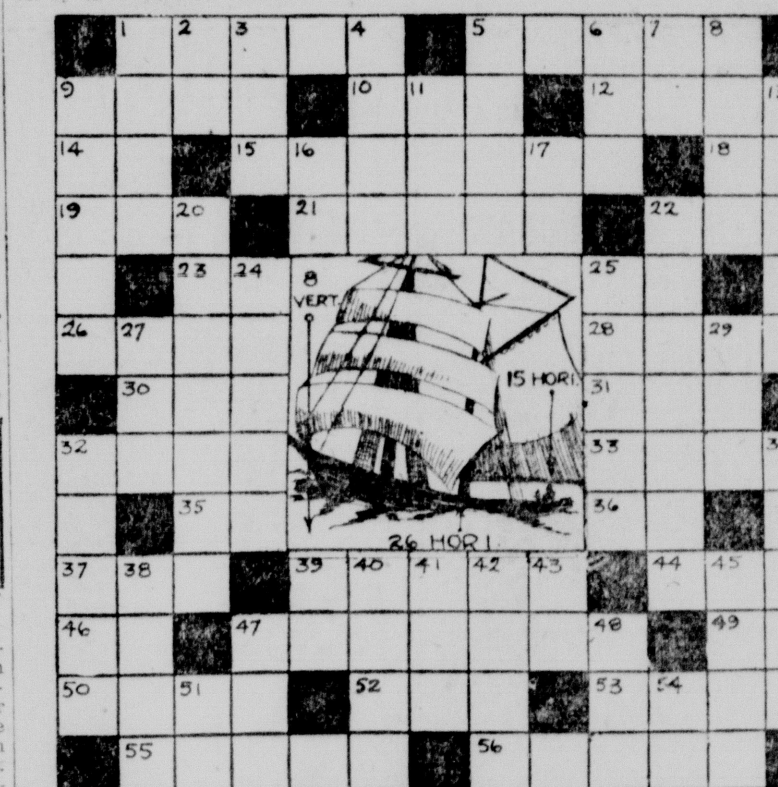

However, older men have always clung to the Chesterfield for the very reason that the younger generation had dropped it—because it has a slight air of ceremony about it and because no other coat is correct to wear upon certain occasions. The Chesterfield is inching back into greater favor in keeping with the preference of the day for coats that trace the figure. Moreover, instead of owning but a single top coat many men perceive the advantage of having several of different sorts, and one of these should be the Chesterfield.

The Chesterfield may be fly-front or button-through, but the true-to-type coat of this character is fly-front and slightly figure-flexing, as sketched here. There are three buttons, a centre vent and flap pockets. The length is about 43 inches. The garment is half or full silk-lined. Being a town coat, not a country or knockabout coat, the correct hat to accompany the Chesterfield is the derby, not the soft felt hat.

Aside from its appropriateness to daytime use, the Chesterfield is an admirable coat to wear over evening clothes. Indeed, it is the only proper garment for that purpose. Loose-fitting coats do not belong with evening dress, be it formal or semi-formal. As the general lines of the Chesterfield do not change from year to year, one may acquire this coat with the certainty of enjoying many seasons' wear, especially if one alternates wearing this style with others.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

The SKELETON FINGER By Headon Hall

BY HEADON HALL
CHAPTER I
What the Crow Dropped

AUTUMN splendor was ablaze in the covers of Beechwood Grange. And there was the more material spectacle of a trestle table in the center of the glade, being loaded with creature comforts by two footmen in morning livery.

The men worked rapidly, as the cries of beaters and the popping of twelve-boreds heralded the approach of the sportsmen for whom the alfresco feast was laid. The finishing touches had just been put to the snowy napery and sparkling crystal when three ladies snatched into the glade from a bridge-path.

"Thank goodness!" wheezed the elder of the trio, a stout woman with purple complexion and an auburn wig. "There is a table to eat off and chairs to sit on. Knives and forks, too, and quite an array of glasses. I was afraid we were expected to squat on the ground and drink beer out of mugs."

"Oh, my dear Lady Marbles, that's a bit rough on Sir Dudley," laughed the next in point of age, a handsome woman of thirty. "You ought to know him well enough to be sure that he wouldn't treat us like that. Besides, as our hostess you probably made the arrangements and are responsible for all this arcaean luxury."

"Hostess?" sniffed the plithoric dowager. "I am no hostess, only chaperon to this naughty child, who's better able to take care of me than I am of her. It's a well-kept sinewy, my job is, and I don't rene, do I, Kathleen?"

The tall girl to whom the appeal was made smiled kindly on the speaker, but before she could reply the head of a little procession appeared at the opposite side of the glade, in single file as it debouched from another woodland path, but bunching into a cluster in the wide space.

Discussing the morning's sport with the gravity befitting such an occasion, the "guns" of Sir Dudley Glenister's first big shoot of the season advanced to the luncheon table.

Not only was it the first big shoot of the season, but the first occasion of the kind on which Sir Dudley had played the host. He had only enjoyed the title and estates for six months, his immediate predecessor having died two years before in America under circumstances entailing delay in the succession till presumption of his cousin George Glenister's death was legally granted by the High Court. According to the evidence procured by the family solicitors, George Glenister had, without knowing it, been a baronet for no more than a week when he was shot in a bar room brawl.

Sir Dudley, leading his guests across the glade, seemed to be basking in the smiles of the belated good fortune which had plucked him from the Stock Exchange into a baronetcy carrying a fine old mansion and a rent roll of twenty thousand a year. A fine figure of a man, in the prime of life, with good voice and hearty manner, he might have been a country gentleman all the time. Perhaps his clothes helped the illusion, for from the crown of his hirsute hat to his natty leggings he was dressed for the part to the minutest detail.

The men handed their guns to their loaders—all but Frank Glenister, a sixteen-year-old Eton boy who was so proud of his new weapon rubbles was a sister of the late Sir Philip Glenister, George and Kathleen's father, and Norman Slater was a son of one of her deceased husband's sisters.

Another male guest staying in the house was the silent, ruminative man with a sharp, hatchet-like face and cavernous eyes, who in an evident fit of abstraction sat down on the either side of Kathleen, Doctor Willoughby Melville, the nerve specialist from Harley Street, owed his invitation to professional services rendered to his host some years before the latter's succession to the baronetcy. Dudley Glenister, then a feverish operator in the "Kaffir Circus," had badly broken down after a week of wild speculation, and was now paying a social debt to the great physician who had healed him.

The only remaining "man" of the that he refused to part with it, laying it on the ground beside him and wily choosing the end seat for that purpose. Sir Dudley sat at the head of the table, with the plithoric dowager on his right, the others ranging themselves casually, all but a tall soldierly young man who was at pains to maneuver himself into the chair next Kathleen Glenister.

This was Norman Slater, a distant connection by marriage of Lady Marbles, and a captain in the Rifle Brigade. Sir Dudley regarded him with scant favor and had only invited him to the Grange because the old lady had frankly declined to come herself unless Norman was asked. And Lady Marbles, as Kathleen's guardian, being indispensable, the young officer had been included in the small house party.

Sir Dudley was far too much a man of the world to be rude to a guest whom he had reason to believe was his rival in love. He had indeed been extra civil to him, alluding to him the best "stander" at the shoot and treating him effectively as a kinsman, which he was not. Lady Mar-

The rest of the "guns" who gathered round the table in the glade were gentlemen from neighboring houses, brick-faced squires, a sportsman and one other. That as a whole they fell easily into either category, The Right Honourable Stephen Colne, as the owner of Colbrook Towers, might have been deemed a squire, but he was certainly not brick-faced. His well-bred, intellectual countenance was of an almost unhealthy pallor, due to the long hours spent as a Cabinet Minister on the Treasury Bench.

The period of liquors, whisky and nicotine arrived. One of the brick-faced squires had taken advantage of the general tolerance to work off an original story culled from an ancient Pink 'Un, and he was warning to the risky climax when the words were literally jerked out of his mouth by the Eton boy, who was sitting next him.

"Mark over!" yelled the youngster, seizing his gun and leaping to his feet. The host removed his cigar and looked skyward. "Don't be a donkey, Frank," he shouted. "It's only a crow."

Frank Glenister was not to be deflected. He had already crammed a cartridge into the breach. "There was no time for two—and raising his gun, he fired at the bird that by now was sailing directly overhead. It was a clean miss and, sharply swerving in its flight, the crow disappeared over the treetops at the far side of the glade.

But it had evidently been a close call for the winged marauder, causing it to drop its plunder. Flop into the center of the luncheon table fell the grisly object, cannoning off a dish of peas and, as it finally came to rest, confessing itself to be a fleshless finger from a human skeleton.

Is Today Your Birth Anniversary?

THURSDAY, MARCH 12—One of the greatest faults of persons born this day is their inclination "to fly off the handle." They are high-tempered and usually talk to much. They rarely harbor a grudge and generally are sorry for cutting remarks soon as they make them, but then the damage is done. They are not inclined to take the advice of others, and a pronounced strain of egotism is a characteristic.

Pilot of Mail Plane is Injured at Calamus, Ia.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Calamus, Ia., March 11.—Forced to land in the dark because of engine trouble, Randolph Page, air mail pilot last night, was slightly injured when his plane turned over in alighting on a farm near here.

Page was flying the night mail from Iowa City to Chicago. He apparently lost his way as Calamus is 10 miles off the route. Mail and pilot were removed to Iowa City this morning.

ARTIST and DECORATOR

New York—The most congested district of New York is comprised of the six blocks that lie within Avenues D and E and Third and Ninth streets. Thirty-three thousand humans live in that small area. They are mostly Russian Jews, Irish and Italian, the proportion being in that order. However, just about every nation of the earth is represented in the district.

A few statistics may help you to realize the congestion in which these people live. They average 135 people to the acre, or 47,000 to the square mile. The average city density is 17,840 per square mile.

These figures take on an added significance if you can picture the population of Milwaukee, or Washington or Newark, or Cincinnati, or New Orleans—any one of them—living in one square mile.

What can life be like where humans are packed together in a mass that resembles nothing so much as mushroom spawn, pressed between great gray walls where a bit of sunlight is a blessing?

In the littered streets on a cool day you see the baby buggies lined up summer days you will see them lined on the sunny side and on the hot on the shady side. Morningnoon is the chief industry of the district. Besides being New York's most congested community this area probably can boast the highest birth rate of any community in America.

Up in a window blooms a bright geranium. For those within and for many who pass it is a shrine of beauty, a breath of free life. For where so many crowd together poverty tags along, and in poverty such as one sees in these East Side tenements a scrappy geranium may be as a field of roses. Greater joy lies in a second-hand phonograph than in all of the Metropolitan Opera. A bright new shawl may be worth more, relatively, than all the finery of Fifth Avenue.

However, there are some windows in which no geraniums bloom. There are flats so crowded that some must sleep on the floor. In some instances beds are occupied 24 hours each day, night workers and day workers sleeping in shifts.

In the mornings and in the evenings when the workers are on their way to and from their homes the streets teem with the milling throng. Watch them pass, human spawn out of which may evolve a president, a statesman, a merchant prince, a great man of letters—or an arm criminal. Anything is likely to incubate behind those great gray tenement walls.

—JAMES W. DEAN.

New York—See-sawing up and down Broadway I say "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, the old-time boxfighter. He's 47 now and still looks fit for the ring. He touches the floor with his hands and without bending his knees 200 times every day, he tells me. Saw Harry Von Tilzer who wrote many of the songs I whistled when I was still in short breeches. New March came in like a lion, but did not know an earthquake had occurred until I read the papers, so used have I become to New York's usual jarring and rumbling.

Saw Leon Errol, the comic man, and he looked like a smile was the thing he had everything else but. Seeing hats for men this spring with much broader brims than for several years and being out of the wild places west of the Hudson am very much pleased thereat, always having believed that the narrow-brimmed hat was designed for New Yorkers.

Sam Enll Jennings in "The Last Laugh," a film much praised by the critics although unique in its direction. Saw Lawrence Tibbett, latest singer to spring to fame in opera and he looks like the middle westerner that he is.

Saw Julia Hoyt, the society lady who went on the stage, and think reports of her great beauty much like Mark Twain's death, "greatly exaggerated."

Saw McKay Morris who plays the role of a warrior in "The Virgin of Bethulia" and makes up to look much like Valentino.

Saw George Gershwin, who looks not a bit distinguished although he wrote "Rhapsody in Blue" which, methinks, is the most distinguished musical composition yet written in America. Saw May Irwin, Marie Cahill and Virginia Harrod, looking like busy housewives out for a rare visit to the theater, although the older generation knows them as great favorites of the stage.

Brownsville is Brooklyn's East Side. Most of its residents are transplanted from the East Side ghetto of Manhattan. In Brownsville the buildings are more modern and less congested than in Manhattan's tenement district. Its inhabitants are a bit more prosperous and living conditions generally much better. But the young gunmen who were a blight on the old East Side also have moved to the new East Side. Many of the Brownsville merchants pay tribute to save themselves from robbery or violence. The weeds were transplanted with the lilies, it seems.

Smugglers employ simple codes to sneak their goods through customs barriers. Once the customs inspectors learn the code it is as easy for them to unearthing contraband goods as it is for the men to whom the goods are assigned. A favorite code is to label all boxes in a consignment with a number containing ciphers. When the ciphers are completely closed the containers hold no contraband. When the cipher is not complete the container holds what the smuggler is seeking for. Following the solution of such a code federal agents recently discovered more than 100 pounds of cocaine concealed in a shipment of Sicily lemons.

The Tangle

I need not remind you, Jack, that I was at the end of my world that night that you came along and turned my face again in the other direction. Of course, I should have gone on freezing, starving, dying, but I could not when food and warmth and life were offered me.

Of course you should have taken the pharisaic course and passed me on the other side, but you did not. The world has its opinions of such meetings and the world tells us what to do under such circumstances, but nature takes a more liberal view—and for the breathless, blissful interlude of the last few months I have not cared what the world thought.

You call yourself a boulder, Jack. Perhaps the world would call you so. To me you are a very human and lovable man with perhaps a few more contradictions than the average.

I love you, Jack. I expect many women have said this to you. Your great mistake, my friend, is that you let them do it. You reach out for the always tantalizing thrill.

Your wife is a wonderful woman. If she were not your wife and always there beside you you would be crazy about her. The whole trouble is that she doesn't keep her sense of humor working and you are just as weary of using your imagination. I am sorry for her, Jack, very sorry for her, but I am also sorry to you, for honestly I believe there is no one in the world who could or does make you as happy as your wife does.

I expect neither of you would appreciate my pity, but it is yours nevertheless.

I don't pity myself. I'm not going to pieces because you have gone out of my life. I think I am going to do something bigger and finer and more splendid than I ever thought of doing before, and that is the reason that I have written you. I want you to know that from now on I am going to sail a straight course.

I want you to know, John Aiden Prescott, that it isn't possible for you to make me lose my self-respect, you see, I have a man's outlook on life and living and, Jack, I must be grateful to you for that—you taught that to me.

I know you told me not to write to you but like all women I must have the last word, and these are the words I want to say: "Don't be a fool any longer. Let your wife be everything to you. She can be that. She is beautiful, she is clever, she has charm."

I know that, for I have made it my business to watch her when you have been with her. She is too good for you, Jack, but alas, she loves you and that tells the story.

Thanks for the check. I have no scruples about taking it. I am going to use it to help me to rehabilitate myself among my own sex. In the future I am going to steer clear of yours. MAMIE. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service Inc.)

FARM MEETING IN OGLE COUNTY WELL ATTENDED

Best Community Meet Thus Far Held at Rebel's Hall

Oregon—The best community meeting thus far held in Ogle County

Farm Bureau's Community Project was the one at Rebel's Hall at Harper Wednesday evening, March 4. There were more than three hundred people present to enjoy a social evening with an entertaining program of music, readings, motion pictures, and cafeteria supper and to listen to talks by Rev. B. A. Fieselmann, pastor of Prairie Dell Church and D. E. Warren, Farm Adviser on subjects of farm community interest.

The Ogle County Farm Bureau is making it a major part of their program of work to develop the community organizations to foster the farm projects and to strengthen community spirit in social ways as well as in the carrying out of improved farm practices. This plan is working very successfully in getting the folks better acquainted with the real worth while things of the Farm Bureau and helping them to make better use of it, according to the farm adviser who states also that ten such community meetings have been held during the last five weeks.

The seed corn demonstration meetings now in progress are also having good attendance. The men who come to these demonstrations with samples of their seed corn are given practice in culling out the ears that show indications of poor vitality or susceptibility to corn diseases. Some of the farmers will follow up the corn improvement with demonstration plots to prove the value of the seed selection.

Effecting Means of Reducing Fat

Here is an extraordinary method of reducing weight—extraordinary because no starvation diets or violent exercises are necessary. Marmola Prescription Tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription. They reduce you steadily and easily, with no ill effects. Produce them from your druggist at one dollar for a box or send price direct to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich. Once you start taking these tablets and losing your fatness, you will be happy again. Adv.

Watch your health now, advise Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director. A long cold winter has been a continual strain on the human body. Lots of furnace heat and only a little out-of-doors air and sunshine has not tended to increase bodily strength. This condition gives disease germs a splendid chance to do mischief.

Right side is most healthful to lie while sleeping.

Hard Corn and Fertilizers

Only 48% of the entire United States corn crop matured in 1924 as compared to a ten year average of 91%.

Was the late spring and cool summer responsible for this condition?

The Iowa Experiment Station made 98.8% hard corn last year on plots where the soil was properly treated.

On their unfertilized plots only 31.4% matured.

Proper soil treatment, which included plenty of plant food, matured a higher percentage of the crop than is ordinarily matured in a normal season.

Make big yields of hard corn by feeding your crop plenty of high analysis fertilizers.
